SURVIVING AN OVERDOSE: NEXT STEPS ON THE ROAD TO RECOVERY

Prevent Overdose,
Save Lives

The Delaware County Certified Recovery Specialist (CRS) Program's mission is to have trained specialists engage with overdose survivors and connect those individuals with treatment options.
The goal is to save lives and end the cycle of addiction.

Seeking Treatment

If you or someone you love has experienced a drug overdose, now is the time to access treatment. If you are a Delaware County resident who has Medical Assistance or is uninsured, you may contact one of these three providers to obtain an assessment for D&A treatment.

Please note that while all efforts should be made to obtain proof of residency, the absence of proof will not prohibit an individual from receiving a Drug and Alcohol assessment or admission into a level of care.

Delaware County Certified Recovery Specialist Program

If you or your loved one has experienced an opiate overdose, contact a Certified Recovery Specialist (CRS) who can assist you in the treatment process.

The services of a CRS are free and provided through a partnership of Crozer-Keystone Health System and the Delaware County Office of Behavioral Health, Division of Drug and Alcohol .

A Certified Recovery Specialist is trained and well-versed in the Drug and Alcohol system and can assist individuals with applying for insurance, setting up appointments, and navigating detox and treatment options.

CRS services are completely voluntary. To speak with a Certified Recovery Specialist, call:

Surviving an overdose: Next steps

- A drug overdose is a traumatic, life-changing experience for individuals and their families. Administration of the overdose-reversing drug Naloxone (Narcan) is saving lives.
- Do not assume that an overdose episode has ended if symptoms improve. Narcan stays active for about 30-90 minutes in the body.
- Individuals must get emergency medical attention after being given a Narcan treatment dose.
- The Narcan may wear off before the opiates wear off and the individual could go into overdose mode again. Repeated doses may be necessary if a person is still showing signs of an overdose.
- Everyone who experiences an overdose needs to be taken to the closest hospital emergency room and should be seen by his or her doctor for follow-up.
- In order to end the cycle of addiction and prevent death, Drug and Alcohol Treatment is strongly recommended. Call a Certified Recovery Specialist to discuss recovery options.
